

Which lever right now depends on phase

Same portfolio. The question moves at least twice.

BUILDING THE BASE

Accumulation

- ▶ Growth is the job. It is what changes your net worth.
- ▶ Yield is what makes holding the asset survivable.
- ▶ Thin rental return eats the capacity for the next buy.

BUILDING THE BASE

Consolidation

- ▶ The buying stops, by choice or by capacity.
- ▶ Debt falls and rents drift up. Surplus appears.
- ▶ That is the loan shrinking, not the market rewarding you.

BEING PAID

Harvest

- ▶ The portfolio finally has to pay you.
- ▶ Growth becomes something you protect, not chase.
- ▶ Income is no longer secondary. It is the point.

BEING PAID

The failure mode

- ▶ Still buying growth at sixty, worth a fortune.
- ▶ The only way to spend it is to sell.
- ▶ Which is the move the whole plan avoided.

The mix shifts. It does not switch.

You are never wrong for picking a lever earlier. Only for not noticing when the right answer moved.
